

For Immediate Release – September 2, 2015

FoxJet Announces the Release of the Marksman HHI Plus for use with the SoloSeries Thermal Jet printing systems.

FoxJet is pleased to announce the newest addition to the FoxJet family of leading products, the Marksman HHI Plus (Handheld Interface) Controller. The new compact controller is designed solely for use with our SoloSeries Thermal InkJet product line.

The Marksman HHI Plus pulls all the benefits from the current controller design and puts them into new sleeker designed handheld unit. The Marksman HHI Plus features a large 7" touchscreen and high resolution graphic characters with on-screen keyboard for a more compact unit. The enhanced home screen experience includes smoother editing movement and easy message creation with print window scrolling. The new Marksman HHI Plus also features Unicode language capability and the ability for user interface to be set in one language and messages to be created and printed in a different language.

The new controller's multilingual functionality makes FoxJet's SoloSeries Thermal Ink Jet systems ideal for start-up operations and manufacturers in emerging markets. The system features clean snap-in cartridges and disposable, industrial grade printheads – making it ideal for manufacturers requiring clean production environments. Combined with the Marksman HHI Plus controller, the SoloSeries is an economical, low-cost and low-maintenance thermal inkjet solution.
